Traditional fishing

Learn to fish like the natives of the Amazon

DURATION	DIFFICULTY LEVEL	RESERVATION
3 hours	II	12 hours in advance

Schedule times are approximate and may vary with weather, river conditions, or group size.

Immerse yourself in a unique cultural experience with our Traditional Fishing activity. Guided by local experts, you will learn the ancestral fishing techniques used by Kichwa communities, such as casting nets (atarraya) and traditional hooks.

River fishing with the atarraya takes place at dusk, and you should be prepared to get completely wet. Depending on the season and the catch, the fish will be released to preserve the ecosystem, cooked on-site over a campfire, or prepared at the lodge, if possible.

We offer this activity at three different locations — the Misahuallí river, the Misahuallí river mines, and the lagoon — each with its own rate (see pricing table).

What to bring?

- Comfortable and lightweight clothing
- Hat or cap
- Sunscreen and insect repellent
- Camera

Hamadryade Foundation

Protecting and restoring the Amazon

At Hamadryade Foundation, we are committed to preserving and restoring the Amazon rainforest through concrete actions in four key areas of development. As a visitor to Hamadryade Lodge or Hamadryade Tours, you too can be part of this positive impact.

1

Soil regeneration

We restore degraded soils affected by deforestation and pollution, bringing back their fertility through natural techniques.

2

Reforestation of devastated areas

We bring life back to areas scarred by mining and deforestation, restoring ecosystems with native species and capturing carbon.

3

Environmental education & awareness

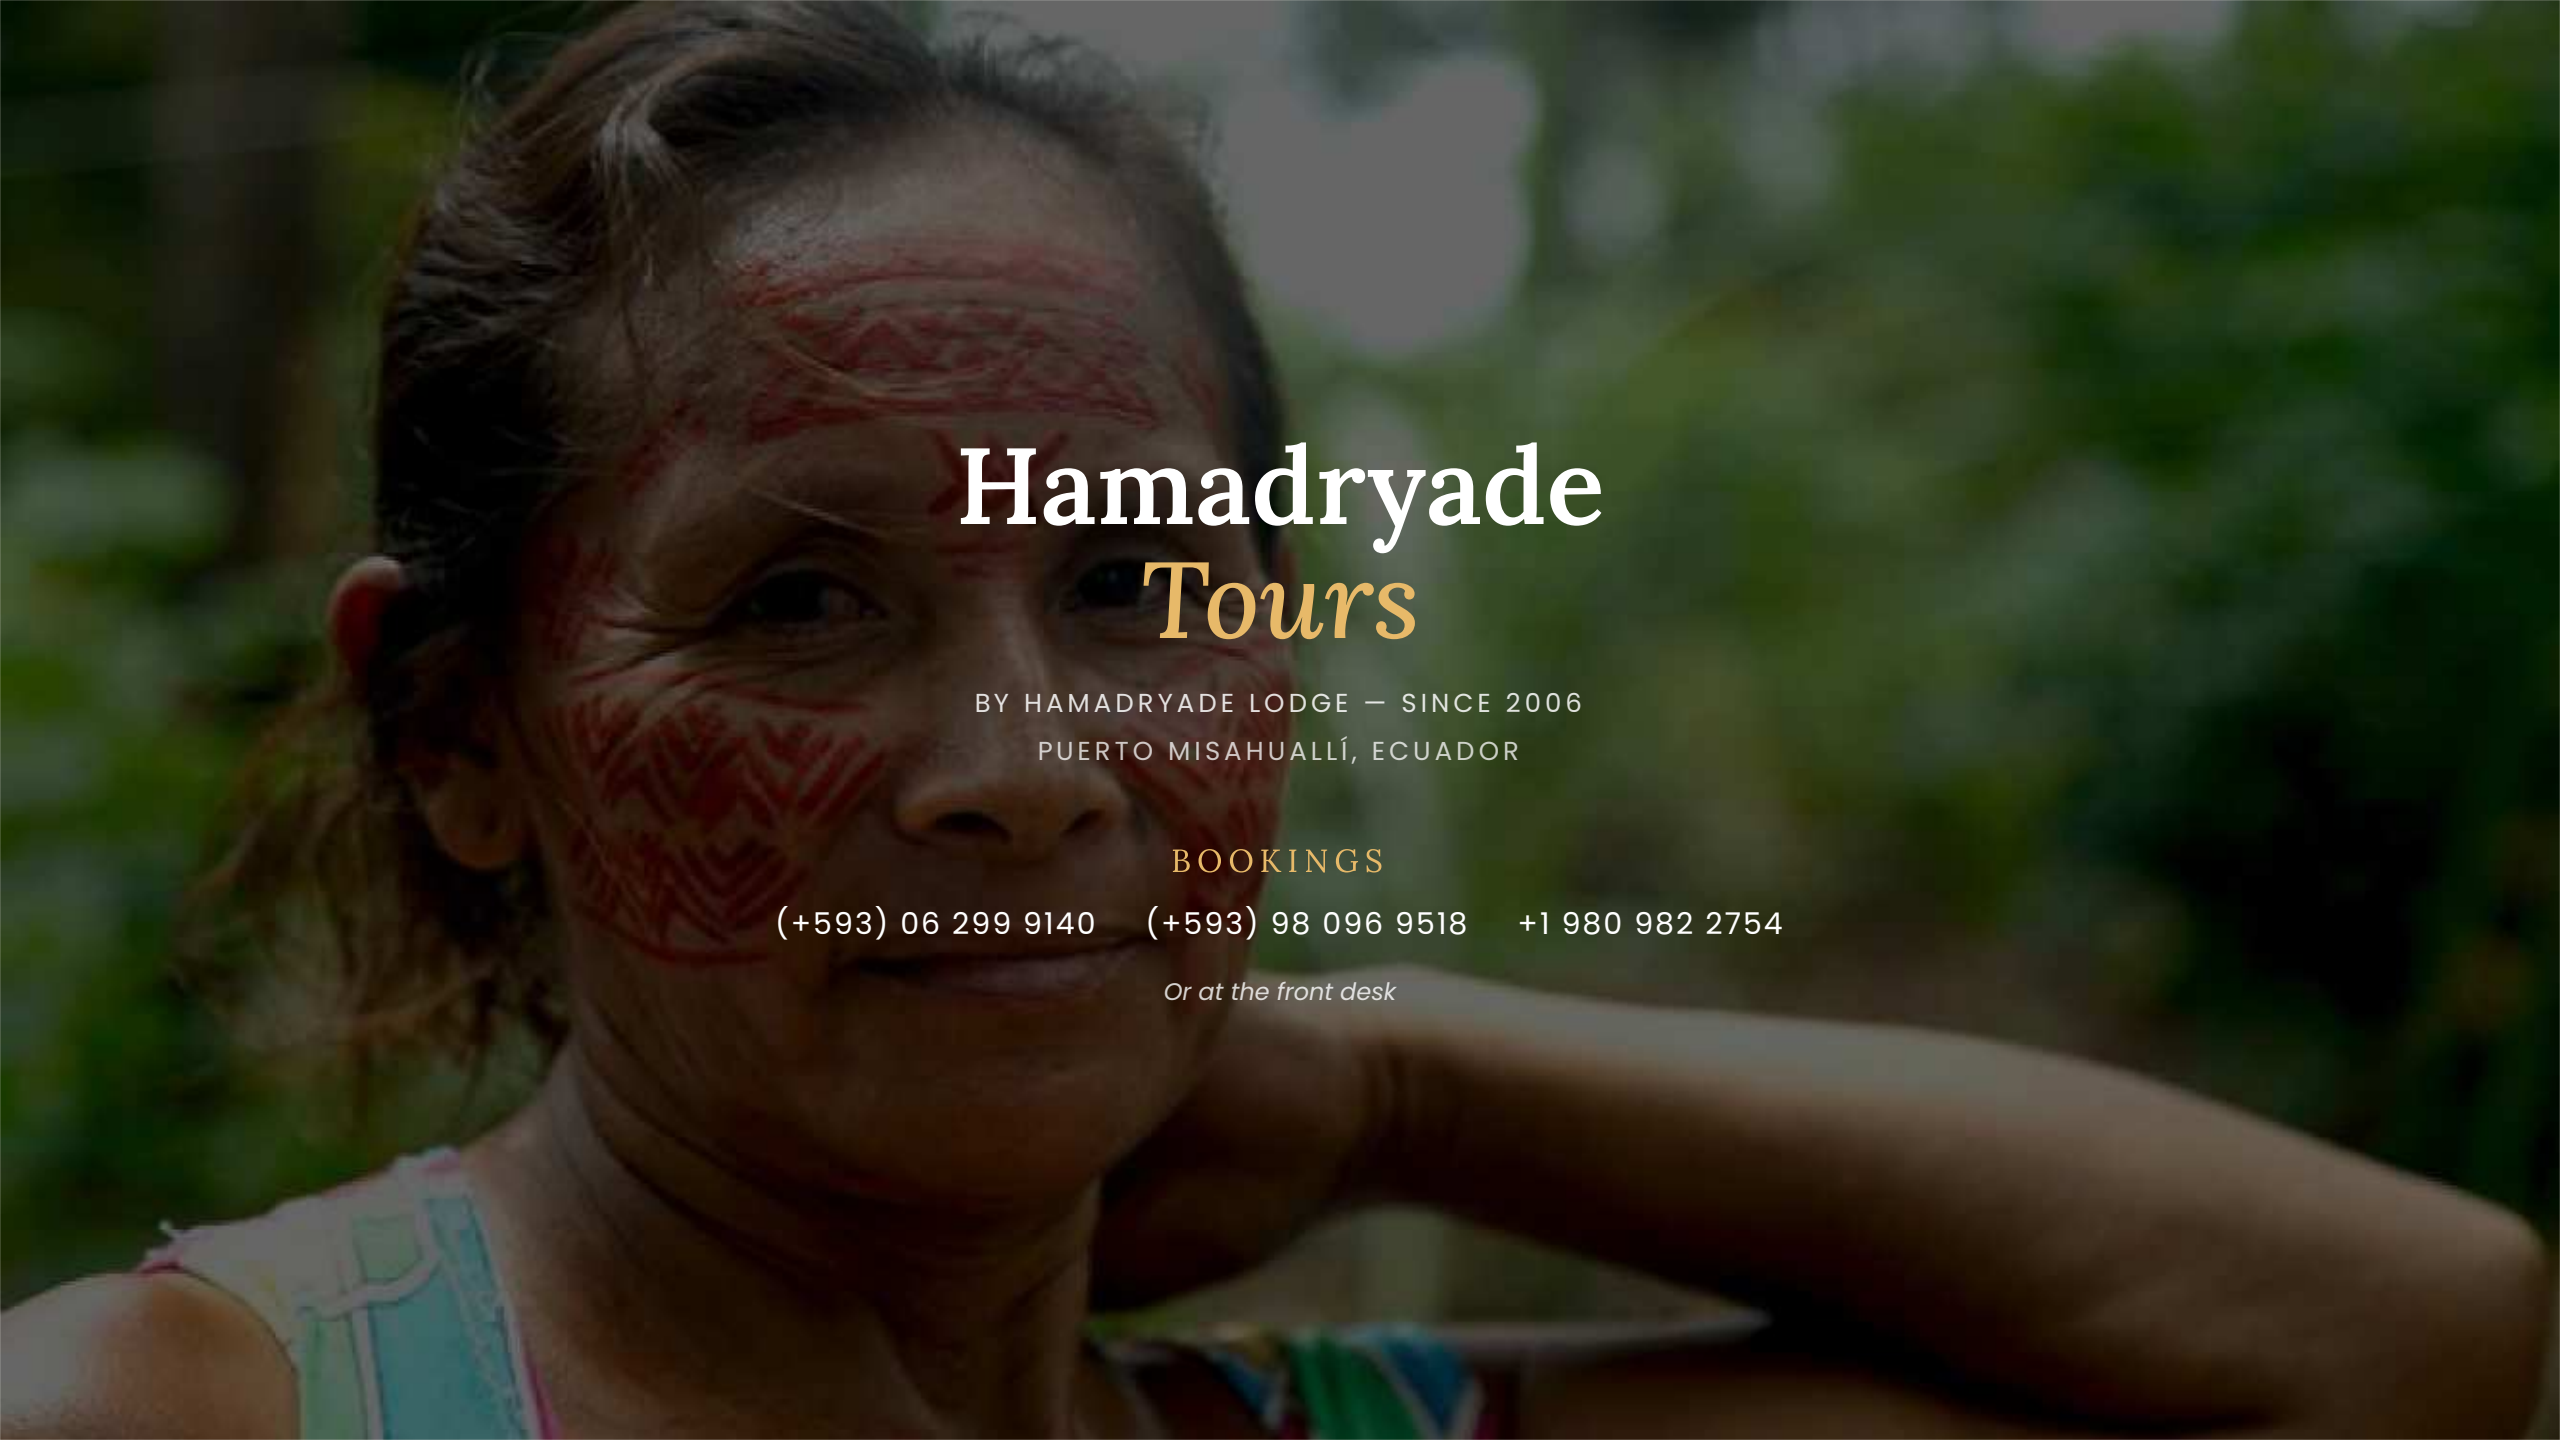

Our educational programs for communities, schools, and visitors help create a network of rainforest guardians.

4

Meliponiculture development

We promote the breeding and conservation of stingless bees, essential for the pollination of Amazonian forests.

Every action counts. Every tree planted, every beehive protected, and every person educated brings us closer to a future where the Amazon remains alive. Join our mission and be part of the change!
